SUMMARY

Introduction

It is necessary for any person or institution to be aware of new developments or news that arise on issues that affect us directly. For this reason, this press dossier has been compiled so that the entire Adorers family can be "up to date".

In order to achieve this objective, we will gather news on a bi-weekly basis, based on three fundamental axes:

The presence of our Congregation in the media.

News about the different projects of the Adorer Family.

News about Human Trafficking and Sexual Exploitation.

The aim of these materials is to make the Adorer Family aware of the social work carried out by our Congregation as well as the dramatic situation against which, fundamentally, we put all our effort and commitment.

Abstract: A new case study of the story of Andreea, a Romanian woman who was trafficked to Lerida for forced begging. Originally, her situation was one of great vulnerability, with no permanent home to live in and sporadic cleaning jobs. An acquaintance, however, tells her that she is moving to Catalonia where she will be able to work and improve her options for the future.

Abstract: We begin the week by sharing with you another case study of human trafficking for exploitation in Spain. Today the case is about trafficking for forced marriages, a form of exploitation suffered by Dasha. The first marriage takes place when she is only 12 years old but she finally manages to escape and the ceremony does not take place. Read her story of survival.

Abstract: Today, #25N, we publish the #MemoriaSicar. In it, you will find the main anti-trafficking results. Human trafficking is a form of gender-based violence. In 2020, we assisted almost 200 victims. Nigeria, Venezuela, and Colombia were the main countries of origin of the people assisted. The main age group: 26-35 years The Legal Service has been, once again, the most used resource.

Abstract: Last week, together with Red Cross, the UTEH (Municipal Unit against Trafficking in Human Beings), and Apip-Adam, we took part in the specialized round table conference on trafficking organized by the CNP (National Police Force).

- The difficulties in identifying victims of trafficking and the need to agree on established criteria.
- Understanding what the identification process means for a victim.
- The role of specialized entities in this process.
- Other purposes of exploitation beyond sexual exploitation.
- When we understand that our intervention, both police and NGOs, has been successful.
- The importance of respecting the victims' time and guaranteeing their right to information.
- We appreciate the great participation of the public and the dialogue generated.

Abstract: We are very happy to have received today two women who continue to add loud and clear to the fight against trafficking. We have been visited today by the magistrate Leyre González, assigned to the Court of Violence against Women No. 1 of Fuenlabrada, together with Pilar Martínez, Social Worker Coordinator of the Trafficking Unit of the Directorate General for Equality of the Community of Madrid. The visit is part of the Training Plan for members of the judiciary who are assigned to Courts of Violence against Women or with competence in this area and responds to the collaboration program of the Directorate General for Equality of the Community of Madrid in the area of training with the General Council of the Judiciary. The visit aimed to share and inform the magistrate about the Network of Comprehensive Care for Gender Violence of the Community of Madrid and, specifically, the Resource of Comprehensive Care for Women Victims of Human Trafficking for Sexual Exploitation that we manage at Proyecto Esperanza. We have met with her from the Area of Awareness and Advocacy and the Area of Intervention from the Legal Service, the Comprehensive Health Service, and the Social Integration Service. Throughout the meeting, we have provided her with information about the resource, the circumstances of the women we attend and we have analyzed, among other issues, the legal difficulties we encounter in our work. We are very grateful for the visit and the opportunity for exchange and mutual learning that these types of meetings provide.

Abstract: Last Sunday the women residents of our specialized resource against human trafficking spent the day at feria bio-culture, which promotes ecology and responsible consumption. The educational aim of participating in this type of activity is to raise awareness of the natural resources available and to generate in them critical thinking about the environment by reducing their ecological footprint as indicated in Goal 12 of the ODSs of the 2030 Agenda: "Ensure sustainable consumption and production patterns". Did you know?

Every year, an estimated one-third of all food produced (the equivalent of 1.3 billion tons worth close to $1 trillion) ends up rotting in consumer and retailer bins or spoiling due to poor transport and collection practices.

If everyone replaced their light bulbs with energy-efficient ones, it would save USD 12 billion a year.

Should the world's population reach 9.6 billion people in 2050, the equivalent of almost three planets could be needed to provide the natural resources needed to maintain current lifestyles?

We would like to take this opportunity to ask you if you know which ODSs are working in the counter-trafficking fight. Tell us and we'll read you in the comments.

Abstract: On Monday we launched the first webinar for the Professional Association of Social Educators of Madrid that we have prepared this year in partnership with the Community of Madrid under the framework of the Madrid Strategy against Trafficking.

- This is the third time that the Community of Madrid has trusted the team to deliver this training, this time 100% online with the support of the virtual platform of the Amaranta Foundation.

- We have updated and adapted all the contents to specifically address the groups of social educators, psychologists, social workers, and lawyers.

- The courses will start on 15 November and will be developed with a teaching load of 12 hours on the platform and two webinars of 2 hours each.

- Dates of the training itinerary:

- ⇒ Association of Social Educators of the Community of Madrid (15- 26 November).
- ⇒ Bar Association of the Community of Madrid (17 November - 1 December).
- ⇒ Association of Psychologists of the Community of Madrid (22 November - 3 December).
- ⇒ Association of Social Workers of the Community of Madrid (29 November - 13 December).

Abstract: Last Friday we had the opportunity to convene again the team of volunteers, both the new incorporations and the group that has been participating for some time, to a meeting of welcome for the coming year. We also invited other groups of people who have recently joined the work, new colleagues, and trainees, novices of the congregation who come to live and share an experience with us for a few weeks. It has been a starting point, after the hard months of the pandemic, although with the prudence and the health measures that we all know. Everyone had the opportunity to talk, to take up again, and to contribute from their perspective to this new moment of the project. The meeting is a generator of energy for everyone, it makes us aware that we are many people very committed to the purpose of the project: To free women from the structures of violence and injustice so that they can enjoy a full life and have access to Human Rights. Abstract: ¿Don't you know our section of testimonies and women's cases yet? This section offers accounts, stories, and cases of recovery from the real protagonists, the women who have suffered first-hand from trafficking for exploitation and who, with enormous courage, bravery and generosity, provide us with invaluable information to understand this phenomenon and to be able to combat it.

- ⇒ Human trafficking is a human rights violation that has a global impact and, as a global problem, requires global solutions.
- ⇒ Given the diversity and complexity of the phenomenon of trafficking, and to understand it and make it visible to its full extent, we offer a comprehensive way to consult the stories of survivors.
- ⇒ Not only because of the type of exploitation but also because of the interconnection with other phenomena such as asylum and other extreme forms of gender-based violence.

We want to contribute to generating deep reflections on the consequences of this human rights violation and a critical view on the impact on the victims of this crime of the strategy and approach we choose to address it.

Abstract: Yesterday afternoon we attended the Recognition given by the Guardia Civil in the Fight against Violence against Women on the occasion of the 25th of November. We would like to congratulate and convey our most sincere congratulations to the award winners among which are:

- ⇒ Civil Guards for their work in the prevention and protection of women victims of violence.
- ⇒ In the field of collectives, entities, or institutions, recognition was given to APRAMP, which works for the liberation and reintegration of women who are prostitutes and victims of human trafficking networks.
- ⇒ In the field of education, the Campaign Against Abuse: Zero Tolerance, by the Mutua Madrileña Foundation and Antena 3 Noticias, a social awareness-raising initiative that has been fighting against this scourge for six years, were highlighted.

The Minister of the Interior, Fernando Grande-Marlaska, accompanied by the Director-General of the Civil Guard, Maria Gámez, yesterday presented the Civil Guard Awards for the fight against violence against women. This is the first edition of these awards, which distinguishes the work of individuals and institutions and of the institution's units and agents who have worked against gender violence.

We are grateful for the words of Lorenzo Cooklin, Deputy Director-General of Communication, Institutional Relations, and CSR at the Mutua Madrileña Group, who highlighted the work of the Mutua Madrileña Foundation in supporting organizations such as APRAMP and Proyecto ESPERANZA Adoratrices in the fight against violence against women.

Abstract: Last October, the Provincial Council of the Adorers of the Province of Spain appointed Iris Rodríguez as director of Proyecto ESPERANZA Adoratrices, a social worker dedicated to offering specialized and comprehensive support to victims of human trafficking for exploitation. In a statement addressed to the team, the new director confirms her "availability to take on this new challenge of leadership and a renewed commitment to the women we serve". A service that she assumes with joy and enthusiasm and she says "all together we can continue to advance in the purpose initiated in 1999".

Furthermore, Iris expresses her hope that "we will continue to make progress in the prevention and protection of the rights of women who suffer this crime and to strengthen even more the links and networking as a strategy to eradicate this scourge".

Today, she states, as she did more than 22 years ago, that "fighting one of the most extreme forms of gender-based violence remains a challenge, but it is also an exciting challenge to which we can and must continue to respond with responsibility and solidarity".

Abstract: Today we participated in the meeting of the European civil society platform against trafficking. It is the first meeting with Diane Schmitt who was appointed a few months ago as the new European Anti-Trafficking Coordinator. One of the key issues at the moment is the evaluation of the implementation of the European counter trafficking directive with the following objectives:

- ⇒ To evaluate the implementation and the effectiveness, efficiency, relevance, coherence, and EU added value of the Anti-Trafficking Directive.
- ⇒ Identify possible gaps and shortcomings in the current framework.
- ⇒ To make recommendations for possible future measures, including those of a legislative nature, to address these gaps.
- ⇒ To assess the impact of such measures given a possible revision of the Anti-Trafficking Directive.

To achieve the objectives described above the research team will carry out at least six different data collection activities, which will inform the three phases of the study. Data collection includes:

- ⇒ Documental investigation or Research at national and international / EU level.
- ⇒ Online survey with Member States' national law enforcement agencies, judicial authorities, national civil society organizations, national reporters, national institutions responsible for social services.
- ⇒ Targeted interviews with EU agencies, European civil society organizations, Businesses and employers, international bodies, and academics/experts.
- ⇒ Online public consultation.
- ⇒ Stakeholder meetings/workshops
- ⇒ Summary of comments received on the initial impact roadmap of the evaluation of the Directive.

Abstract: For these gestures of solidarity and affection, the team of people who work every day to carry out the social work of supporting and protecting so many vulnerable women and babies at Adoratrices Cordoba is one of the many reasons why it is worthwhile. We share the initiative of a group of young people who with their great heart and enthusiasm have wanted to give us their LEGACY. They call themselves "POLAR STAR" and like the star of Bethlehem at Christmas, at this time of year when we dream, even more, they invite us to DREAM and offer us their social legacy and their commitment to the SOURCE OF LIFE program. They are committed to helping us with everything that the social work of Adoratrices Cordoba needs for the daily care of the women. We get down to work and begin to DREAM. January 2022 will see the culmination of this project, which has already been set in motion by this team with so much desire and strength to join this hard but at the same time, very satisfying journey to support pregnant women and their babies. It has been an honor for all our team and for the women to have met you and for our organization to have been chosen for this great legacy! THANK YOU TO ALL THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE UP THE POLAR STAR GROUP!

Title: The traces of trafficking are difficult to erase.

Source: El Comercio

Date: 30/11/2021

Abstract: Her journey was about to end. It was enough to cross a clandestine trail to start a new life in Ecuador; that dream was behind her, for a while. The young mother who had thought of finding a job and reuniting with her daughters was kidnapped. The men guarding the pass led her through a tortuous route of camouflaged brothels.
